Joe Schlosser
Senior Vice President, Communications
NBC Universal Television Distribution

Joe Schlosser was named Senior Vice President, Communications, NBC Universal Domestic Television Distribution in December 2005. He is currently responsible for all internal and external communications for the division, as well as all publicity efforts for the newly created NBC Universal Television DVD, Music and Consumer Products Group. Schlosser oversees all domestic consumer and trade publicity for the division's first-run programming, which includes "Deal or No Deal," "The Martha Stewart Show," "Access Hollywood," "Maury," "The Jerry Springer Show," "The Chris Matthews Show" and a handful of other series.

Schlosser was previously Vice President, Communications, NBC Universal Television Distribution. He joined NBC Universal from NBC Enterprises, where he served as Vice President, Publicity, from October 2002 through May 2004. While at NBC Enterprises, he oversaw all publicity activities for NBC's in-house syndication unit, including press efforts for "Access Hollywood," "The Jane Pauley Show" and a handful of other first-run syndicated fare. Schlosser also oversaw all of NBC Enterprises' international publicity endeavors, including foreign sales of "Queer Eye for the Straight Guy," "The Tonight Show with Jay Leno" and "Will and Grace."

From December 2001 to October 2002, he served as Vice President of Communications for the Hallmark Channel in Studio City, Ca. While at Hallmark Channel, Schlosser oversaw a staff of seven communications professionals while leading all publicity efforts for the emerging cable network.

Prior to working in communications, Schlosser was Los Angeles Bureau Chief for the leading television trade publication Broadcasting & Cable. In heading up the magazine's West Coast coverage, he was responsible for all network and syndication coverage. For the past five years, Schlosser has taught "Working with the Media," an annual course offered within UCLA's Journalism & Publicity Extension division.

He holds a Master's degree in broadcast journalism from Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism and Bachelor of Arts degree in journalism from the University of Southern California. He currently resides in Westlake Village, California, with his wife, Stacey, and children Ivy, Mia and Noah.
